Future Healthcare Executives
University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee

Participants In The ACHE Higher
Education Network

Welcome to the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Future Healthcare Executives Participants in the ACHE Higher Education Network. We are excited to have you as a member for the 2008-2009 school year. Since you have already taken the step to become a member of FHE, you realize the importance of being involved in a nationally recognized professional organization in the healthcare field of your study. As your FHE officers, we intend to maximize the benefits of your membership by bringing in a broad spectrum of guest speakers, creating chances for networking, involvement in the community, getting to know your fellow classmates and faculty, discovering opportunities for after graduation, and learning about the issues that various fields of healthcare face today and in the future of your career.

We would highly encourage you to become national members of ACHE as well. Your membership will create recognition by healthcare executives throughout the country and offer you professional publications such as the Journal of Healthcare Management, Healthcare Executive, and Modern Healthcare. Information on how to apply is included in your folder. There will be an opportunity to attend ACHE Congress on Healthcare Leadership in Chicago for those of you that have junior or senior status.

We are excited for the events planned for this semester. To maintain an active membership, we recommend that you attend at least two meetings and participate in one volunteer activity each semester. If you have attended a volunteer event or are currently volunteering on a regular basis outside of the University, please notify Jolene Posthuma, Volunteer chair at jolenep2@uwm.edu.
